Yup. For the record /u/roaming-the-web, you really don't want a RNG150 running X1 firmware. Let's just say it's not the best experience to showcase X1 and we can definitely find a better version of an X1 box to give you (provided you dont' need any legacy video connections like RCA cables, etc).. Also, iirc S0a00 is a box authorization code and is usually cleared up with a hit to refresh services.
