He comes across as an arrogant man but then why not...he is an unique individual who is a genius in the mural medium as well as unique and very Mexican paintings. He is all about the people...the ordinary ones and I think the he is vastly overlooked in art history.

helping my patients to conceive children and the creation of art through distinguishable media. My informal painting career began in the early 1970s, I happened to start my medical career around the same time. Throughout my years in medical school and residency (the 70s and early 80s), I discovered my persona through art.
