In The Flight of the Creative Class, Florida expands his research to cover the global competition to attract the Creative Class. The USA once led the world in terms of creative capital. Since 2002, factors like the Bush administration's emphasis on smokestack industries, heightened security concerns after 9/11 and the growing cultural divide between conservatives and liberals have put the US at a large disadvantage.

The Flight of the Creative Class: The New Global ...

In The Flight of the Creative Class, Richard Florida argues that the United States has become less supportive of members of "the creative class": individuals who develop new processes, businesses, technologies, and art. The end result is that the U.S. attracts (or allows in because of Homeland Security concerns) fewer foreign graduate students, academics, and entrepreneurs, which in turn will drive down our competitiveness.
